Khrushchev Claims United Germany Not Peace Requirement

Russia Charges West Worsens Mideast Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Russia charged today that increasing talk of armed intervention by the Western powers had worsened the situation in the Middle East.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev injected this controversial issue into a U. N. debate on a United States plan to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on a special Middle East peace mission.

The vote on the American proposal was delayed until tomorrow morning by a series of Soviet amendments and by a Syrian request for more time. Approval seemed certain, however.

Lodge Hopes For Final Action

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., April president of the Council, said he hoped for final action when the 11-nation Security Council meets at 10:30 a. m. Hammarskjold is ready to leave later this week.

Sobolev not only blasted what he called the increasing tendency on the part of the Western powers to plan armed intervention, under the pretext of preventing war; he also questioned the right of the United States, Britain and France to take any decisions on the Middle East problem without the participation of the governments of that area.

West Fires Back

Sobolev insisted that no decisions concerning the Middle East could be taken without the parties concerned and that no decisions should be made outside the United Nations.

Sobolev's blast brought quick retorts from Lodge and from the British and French representatives, Sir Pierson Dixon and Herve Alphand. All of them deplored the injection of what they called an irrelevant matter into the hitherto harmonious debate.

Council To Aid Older Citizens

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The creation of a Federal Council on Aging was ordered today by President Eisenhower, who gave it the assignment of finding new avenues for government help to older citizens.

Eisenhower directed a dozen government agencies to name one representative each on the council. In a memorandum to the department heads involved, the President listed this as the job of the new group:

"To review existing programs in the light of emerging needs, and make recommendations to the appropriate departments and agencies as to the emphasis, priorities and provisions for unmet needs."

Eisenhower said department heads directly affected would retain responsibility for initiating new programs and policies or changing old ones. However, they presumably would have the benefit of the council's suggestions in such matters.

The President said the new program is needed because a "marked rise in the number of older persons in our population has a continuing and fundamental impact on our society."

Israeli Soldier Slain

35,000-Vote Edge Is Held By President

Eisenhower Boosts His Margin Steadily Following Slow Start

MILWAUKEE, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower, after a slow start, gained a lead of more than 35,000 over Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) with nearly two-thirds of the precincts reporting on their popularity test in Wisconsin's presidential primary.

The delegate vote in 2,069 of the state's 3,321 precincts:

Eisenhower (R)	181,465
Kefauver (D)	145,754
John Chapple (R-favorite son)	7,681

The vote included only 78 of Milwaukee county's 652 precincts. Kefauver delegates are expected to run particularly strong in the county and an outstate majority for the President could conceivably be cut down here.

At that stage of the counting, the delegates pledged to President Eisenhower were polling about 54 per cent and the Chapple slate which could be considered anti-administration about two per cent.

Ike Got 61% In 1952

This compares with 75 per cent obtained by the Republican delegate candidates in the 1952 primary and 61 per cent obtained by President Eisenhower over Adlai Stevenson in the state's vote for president four years ago.

The vote was for 30 delegates on the Republican ballot and 56—each with one half vote at the Democratic convention—on the Democratic ticket. It was considered a popularity test between the President and Sen. Kefauver because the Eisenhower slate had only taken opposition from a slate headed by Chapple, who is opposed to the President's foreign policies. Kefauver was unopposed in the Democratic ballot.

Delegates pledged to Kefauver had the edge in the 2nd Congressional District which borders Milwaukee and takes in Madison, in the 9th and 10th districts which are in the far northern section. Eisenhower delegates led in five other districts. There were no reports from Milwaukee County, which takes in two congressional districts.

Kefauver Urged GOP Crossover
Kefauver, in a last minute appeal to Wisconsin voters had urged them to cross over from the Republican ranks and vote for his delegates as a protest of the administration's policies—particularly those dealing with the farm programs.

In the 1952 delegate race, Republican candidates polled about 75 per cent of the total vote. There was a hot Republican fight that year and no contest of consequence in the Democratic primary. In the 1952 general election President Eisenhower carried the state over Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, by a 61 to 39 per cent margin.

Two Killed In Plane Crash Near Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—Two officers of the Air Research and Development Command were killed tonight when their T33 jet trainer crashed and burned shortly after takeoff from Friendship International Airport.

The ARDC withheld identity of the victims pending notification of next of kin.

The plane crashed in a wooded area west of Holy Cross Cemetery, just south of Baltimore in Anne Arundel County, and about two miles northeast of the airport.

Mollet's Statements Please Soviet Boss

MOSCOW, April 3 (AP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev said today that the reunification of Germany is not absolutely necessary for world peace.

"Can one visualize peace without the unification of Germany?" mused Khrushchev aloud as assembled correspondents listened in the St. George's Hall of the Grand Kremlin Palace.

"Yes, one can," he answered, sipping slowly at a glass of champagne.

Khrushchev's remarks were made at a Kremlin banquet in honor of Swedish Prime Minister Tage Erlander who is visiting the Soviet Union.

Mollet Interview Recalled

"Peace," Khrushchev said "must be assured above all. People want to live in peace. But if in the question of German reunification we are spoken to in the language of positions of strength, then we too have strength."

Khrushchev's statements were brought on by questions from correspondents about French Premier Guy Mollet's interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

According to reports reaching here, Mollet took a somewhat neutralist view which pleased the Soviet government.

In the interview Mollet praised American "generosity" and aid programs but said underlying American officials "with all their haughtiness, accompanied by advice" had caused resentment and "created something near to hatred" in Italy and Austria.

Geneva Approach Bad

Mollet said also that he thinks last year's Geneva conference made a bad approach in listing unification of Germany and European security as problems No. 1 and No. 2, followed by disarmament. Saying disarmament should come first, he said he did not know whether the Russians wanted a unified Germany or not but that "there is one certainty: If there is a chance that the Russians wish to see Germany unified, that chance can only be realized envisaged in the framework of general world disarmament."

"This interview pleased us," Khrushchev said. "I am not in complete agreement with everything he said but undoubtedly it was a good interview."

B29 Knocks Over 410-Foot Radio Tower, Crashes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 3 (AP)—A B29 Superfort knocked over the transmitting tower of radio station WOAI outside this city today, then crashed and burned a half mile away.

The sheriff's office said one crewman was killed, two were injured and four bailed out safely. There was no immediate explanation of how men could bail out at such a low altitude.

The sheriff's office said the plane was a total loss.

The plane struck the 410-foot tower at 3:15 p. m. It lost a motor before striking the ground.

Fred Sterling, a WOAI supervisor, said the plane toppled the tower to the ground and the transmitter house at the base was demolished. The transmitting line to the downtown studios was torn down.

Grace Kelly To Sail Today For Monaco And Marriage

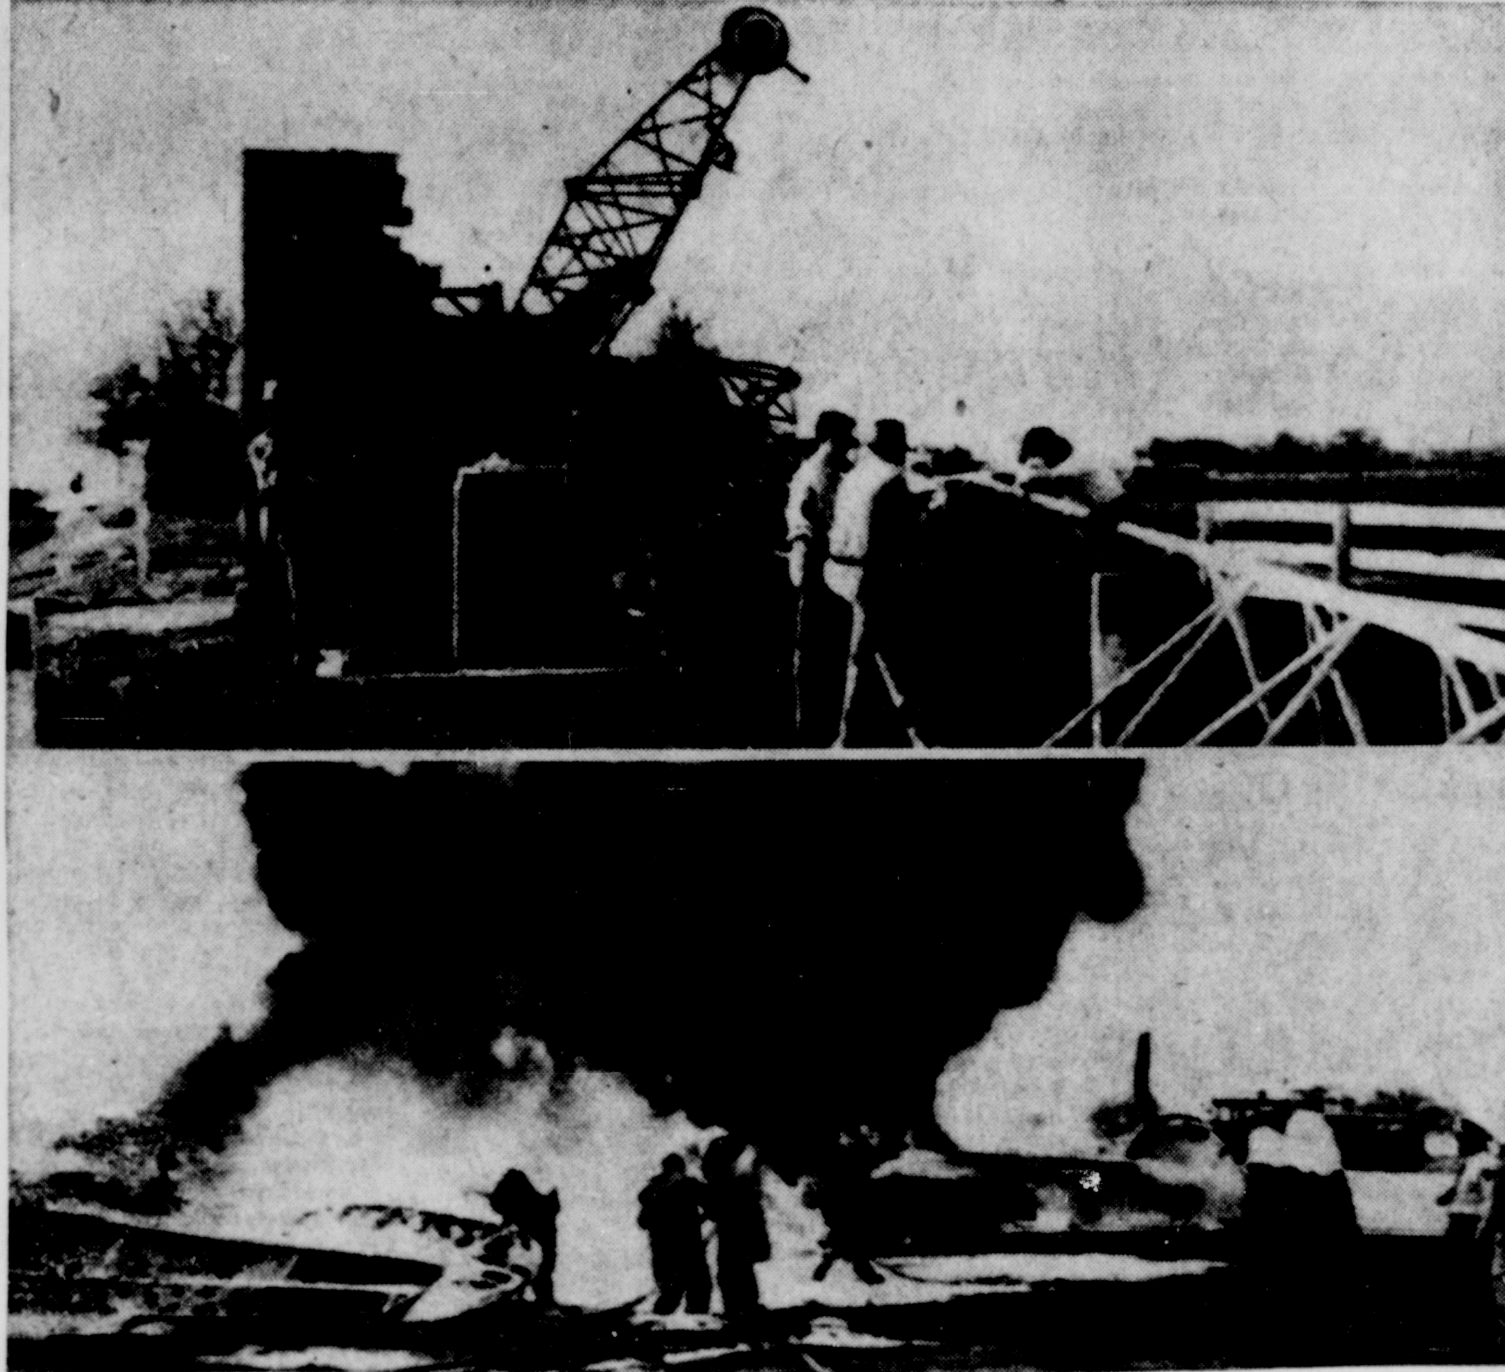

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Grace Kelly, soon to be Princess of Monaco, sails tomorrow for that tiny principality with an entourage of 80. She will occupy the liner Constitution's bridal suite—alone.

Her accommodations, a combination living room and room with a veranda, are the ship's most luxurious. They are on the high sun deck. Around her will be staterooms and suites of members of the bridal party, friends, business associates and, of course, family.

On April 12, Rainier III, ruler of the little Riviera state which will be her home, will be reunited with his fiancée when he meets her off Monaco aboard his 135-foot yacht and carries her to port. They have not seen each other since mid-March when the Prince after a lengthy Hollywood visit while Miss Kelly was making her final film before the wedding, flew to New York and then sailed back to Europe. Since then, they have talked frequently by telephone and Rainier sent Miss Kelly a Paris hat to wear to church Easter morning.

Miss Kelly's many trunks, unopened wedding presents and a crated Queen Anne desk have been stored on the ship. The size of her trousseau is indicated by a recent spur-of-the-moment purchase of a broadtail jacket with mink collar and a fox cape to augment her fur wardrobe, already considerable. One New York designer has been working day and night to complete an order for 20 hats.

U.S. Offers New Plan For World Disarmament

LONDON, April 3 (AP)—The United States today proposed a new world disarmament plan, including limitations on atomic and hydrogen weapons.

It calls for a world nuclear census and partial nuclear disarmament once cutbacks in conventional arms and military spending get under way.

The plan was presented by U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen at a meeting of the five-power subcommittee of the U. N. Disarmament Commission. It was said to have sparked a lively discussion by the other delegates. All asked for time to study it.

Inspection System Provided
The plan includes an elaborate control and inspection system, on which the United States puts great stress.

The proposals envisage a two-phase program covering both nuclear and conventional arms. The nuclear phase calls for the census of atomic and hydrogen weapons, a system to control and inspect them, a freeze on their future manufacture and finally a whittling away of nuclear stockpiles.

This cutting of stockpiles would be accomplished by transferring agreed amounts of fissionable material already produced to "exclusive peaceful purposes."

Would Limit Nuclear Tests
The plan also would limit nuclear weapons tests, but it does not call for any total ban on atomic or hydrogen arms.

Along with the nuclear phase, initial cutbacks in manpower would be proceeding down to these ceilings:

2,500,000 men each for Russia, Red China and the United States;
750,000 each for France and Britain;
and 500,000 for all other states joining in the disarmament agreement. Reductions in arms and spending would correspond to these manpower levels.

Ike Plans Ga. Vacation

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower hopes to leave next Monday or Tuesday for a week's vacation at Augusta, Ga.

Today's Chuckle

The man chanced upon a big stock of a long, incredibly dull book that had no index. Since they were cheap he bought them up and mailed them anonymously to his friends with this comment:

Woman Tourist Sets Fire In White House

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—A middle-aged woman visitor today set a fire in the Red Room of the White House and four more in the adjacent Executive Office Building. The Secret Service said she was apparently not lucid.

The fires were quickly smothered.

The incidents were announced at a joint news conference by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and U. E. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service.

Hagerty said the woman gave her name as Mrs. Julia M. Chase, that she came to Washington today, and that she is a native of Hagerstown, Md., and was born May 14, 1902.

The woman toured the White House public rooms this morning in company with hundreds of other Easter week visitors.

Fires Cause No Damage
Hagerty and Baughman said that in all five cases the fires were quickly put out by guards and that there was no damage.

They said the woman was detected setting the fifth fire in the Executive Office Building, across the street from the White House.

She was taken into custody and sent to the District of Columbia General Hospital for observation. The Red Room, on the main floor of the White House itself, traditionally is used by the President's wife for receiving guests by appointment. It is also the spot where guests assemble for lunch or dinner when privately entertained.

Most of the persons were on a sightseeing, cruise arranged by a hotel to mark the end of its operation for the season.

Mrs. Myrtle Fishman, of Miami Beach, an operator at the hotel, said the boat, a 65-foot craft, "felt like we were hit by a big wave."

"The rail started to go down and we all slid to that side of the boat. The rail went completely under and I saw eight or nine people slide off the deck into the water. A few seconds later the boat righted itself almost completely."

She said she grabbed a rail and did not slide off the craft.

Air Service To Moscow

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Scandinavian Airlines System said today it will start service to Moscow next month.

The line, operated by Sweden, Denmark and Norway thus would be the first from West to penetrate Red aviation's Iron Curtain.

Navy Planes Armed With Guided Missile

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that some of its patrol planes now are armed with a guided missile—the "Petrel"—which it described as both complex and "exceptionally" reliable.

A joint announcement of the Navy and Fairchild Engine & Airplane Co. said the Petrel air-to-surface missile has "performed with a degree of reliability considered exceptionally high for such a sophisticated weapon."

The announcement said the missile is "primarily for use against enemy ships at sea" and described it as "one of the more complex" types now in production.

"Launched by patrol aircraft well outside the range of the target's air defense, the missile attacks at high speed and with devastating effect," the Navy said, and added:

"Thus Petrel eliminates the potential loss of valuable, highly trained pilots as well as costly planes and equipment."

Ike Not Planning To Ask Mideast Troop Authority

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today President Eisenhower has no present plans to ask Congress for standby authority, such as he got for Formosa, to send U. S. troops into the war-threatened Middle East.

In response to a question at a news conference he said he did not foresee any crisis requiring use of American forces in the area made tense by the Arab-Israeli dispute.

If such a need did arise, he said, President Eisenhower would want to get the approval of Congress before sending in troops unless the emergency did not allow time for congressional action.

U. S. Policy Seeks Peace

Dulles emphasized that peace and genuine independence are what American policy seeks in the Middle East. He said he is confident the United Nations Security Council will approve a U. S. proposal to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on a Middle East peace mission.

That would "add appreciably to the assurance of peace" and "mark, I think, very real progress," Dulles said.

Asked again and again about Israel's request for 63 million dollars in U. S. arms, Dulles replied there is no change—it is still under consideration.

Arms Shipment Question

Would arms shipments to Israel from other Western countries contribute to Middle East stability? It might, he replied, and the United States certainly has no reason to object.

Dulles talked also about free world unity. He said he was confident it would be maintained and even, perhaps, cause the Russians to change their basic objectives as well as their surface masks.

He talked also about the Kremlin leadership's de-emphasis of Joseph Stalin's memory. He attributed this shift in tactics to "domestic discontent and foreign distrust" but he said it is a hopeful sign.

TOKYO, Wednesday, April 4 (AP)—More than 20 planes joined at dawn today in the hunt for a missing U. S. Air Force C119 with five men aboard.

Michigan Hit Hardest With Death Toll 20

Scores Are Injured, Property Damage Heavy In Midwest

(Picture on page 2)

(By The Associated Press)

Tornadoes, striking the nation's midcontinent for the second successive day, pushed their death toll to 45 Tuesday.

More than 185 persons were injured in the two-day period and property damage was extensive. New storms late Tuesday accounted for 35 of the dead and more than half the injured. They came on the heels of a destructive trail which left 10 dead through the Southwest overnight.

Worst hit Tuesday was Michigan where 20 were killed. Tornadoes and other violent winds also punched Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas and Kentucky.

In addition, violent winds followed a freak heat wave into Illinois and neighboring parts of the Midwest. Snow and sleet plastered Nebraska.

Eight Dead In Wisconsin
Tornadoes took this toll in two days: Michigan 20 dead and at least 100 injured; Wisconsin, 8 dead and many injured; Mississippi, 1 dead and at least 4 injured; Tennessee, 2 dead and at least 6 injured; Kentucky, 1 dead and 1 injured; Arkansas, 5 injured; Iowa, several injured; Oklahoma, 5 dead; Kansas, 2 dead.

Storms caused three traffic deaths in Texas, two in Kentucky and one in Nebraska.

WISCONSIN—Two communities in central Wisconsin, Berlin and Bancroft, were dealt crushing blows. A series of smaller tornadoes was reported in western Wisconsin, where rivers swollen by rain and the melting of a heavy snow cover threatened to get out of bounds.

Six of the dead were at Berlin, a city of about 5,000. The twister smashed into the city and passed less than a block from the high school where 400 youngsters were attending classes. It crumbled the Sands Knitting Mills plant where about 30 employees were working. Many of them were injured, but all escaped death.

NATIONAL GUARDIAN
MICHIGAN—Police reported at least 20 persons killed in the western section of the state. Reports of injuries varied up to 100 persons. Thirteen were reported killed in the town of Hudsonville. The National Guard sent 50 vehicles to help out.

KENTUCKY—A woman was killed and her son critically injured when a tornado demolished their farm home near Henderson and hurled them 200 feet through the air. Henderson is across the Ohio River from Evansville, Ind. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Administration's 'Fantasies' Draw Truman Attack

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Former President Truman accused the Eisenhower administration tonight of giving the people a falsely optimistic picture of the U. S. position in the cold war.

Administration leaders, he said, have been "telling the American people only what seems to be politically expedient at the moment."

Truman said Communist strategy was more dangerous than at any time since the end of World War II, but that Secretary of State Dulles "tells us that Soviet policy has already failed, and is bankrupt."

Truman delivered his attack on Republican conduct of foreign affairs as guest speaker at the annual awards dinner of the Overseas Press Club.

He called for a "bold, new program for foreign economic aid" to meet Soviet economic and political penetration of foreign countries.

Accusing Dulles of complacency in face of recent Russian moves, Truman said in a prepared address:

"The Eisenhower administration's premature claims of success may well be the bar that prevents actual achievement of success....

"The fantasies of the secretary of state make it all the more necessary for others to see things through."

Truman said the administration has asked for "far too little rather than too much" in increased foreign aid.

Ike Declares Arms Alone Cannot Solve Foreign Problems

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower urged today that America combat the lures of Russian communism with a positive approach to helping mankind, rather than relying too much on armaments.

He spoke out strongly against making "the ignorant, uninformed decision that only in armaments are we going to find the solution of our foreign problems."

Eisenhower made his remarks in an informal appearance before the Advertising Council, an organization which mobilizes the strength of advertising in public service campaigns.

In making his talk Eisenhower may, or may not, have been taking note of recent criticism that his own administration is relying too much on arms and military alliances at a time when Russia has changed tactics and is courting free nations with talk of economic help to raise living standards.

For example, Foreign Minister Pineau of France recently accused the West, and in effect the United States particularly, of "grave errors" in putting so much emphasis on military strength as the basis of security.

Major Russian Publications Cut Loose At Stalin

MOSCOW, April 3 (AP)—Two major Soviet publications kept the campaign to demolish the Stalin myth rolling today.

Kommunist, the organ of world communism, charged that Stalin destroyed the principle of democracy in the Soviet Union.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star accused the late dictator of underestimating Lenin's role as a military genius. It attacked Stalin's role as a military leader.

Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev and other top Soviet leaders first denounced Stalin's "cult of the individual" last month at the party's 20th Congress.

Stalin Damaged Party Work

Kommunist, official organ of the party's Central Committee, declared:

"The alien spirit of the cult of the individual as practiced by Stalin violated the principles of Leninism . . . and inflicted considerable damage on party work."

"Stalin's ignoring of the principles of collective leadership and party life led to the violation of intra-party democracy, to the belittling of the activity of rank and file members, and their initiative, and hindered the development of criticism and self-criticism."

Mass Discussions Urged

Kommunist urged the participation of the masses in discussions of important party problems, which it said Stalin repressed, and declared:

"Such participation enriches the party with the wisdom of the people, with the experience and knowledge of the rank and file, and confirms the Leninist principle that only the collective experience of millions can lead to correct and proper progress on the path toward communism."

Red Star's editorial asserted: "The cult of personality, namely Stalin's personality, restricted individual branches of science, leading to stagnation of theoretical thought and sometimes to crude pervisions. This relates to military science, to problems of theory and history of military affairs as well."

M'Keldin To Act On Bills Today

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—Gov. M'Keldin is scheduled to take pen in hand tomorrow and sign into law an amendment that will permit him to name arbitrators to settle the Baltimore Transit Co. dispute with its employees over a new contract.

Twenty-five other bills passed by the 1956 General Assembly await his formal approval or veto. He has promised a general bill-signing session tomorrow, but outside of a promise to sign the utilities seizure amendment, he did not elaborate on others.

One of the remaining bills would require advance court permission before one could tap telephone or telegraph wires. Another would exempt non-residents from the state income tax if their income is derived from services and if their home state provides similar exemptions for Marylanders.

Adams Says Ike Now Carries Full Load Of His Office

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams today reported that President Eisenhower, having increased his workload day by day, "has now picked up the full load" of the presidency.

Deriding published comments about a "part-time president," Adams told the annual Washington meeting of the Advertising Council:

"The President is back in business and he's back 100 per cent."

The report brought a round of applause from the 250 council members, mostly corporation heads, advertising executives, and publishers and broadcasters. The council channels about 125 million dollars of free advertising annually into public service campaigns. Eisenhower addressed them earlier today.

Exports Of U.S. Farm Products Decrease

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that exports of U.S. farm products totaled $2,100,000,000 during the eight-month period ending Feb. 29.

This compared with $2,132,000,000 in the similar period a year earlier.

With the exception of cotton, foreign sales of all major commodity groups were higher this marketing year than last. Cotton exports dropped 65 per cent because foreign competitors were underselling the American product.

Michigan Hit

TENNESSEE—A tornado struck three communities near Dyersburg, which is 80 miles north of Memphis. At Burgie's Chapel, Harvey Anderson saw the funnel as he worked in a field. He shouted to a friend, "That looks close to my house," and ran toward home. His house was in splinters and his wife lay fatally injured in the wreckage. The other death was at Maxey.

MISSISSIPPI—A violent wind collapsed a Negro school house about seven miles northeast of Tunica, killing a teacher and injuring four children.

ARKANSAS—Five were hospitalized when a twister struck a rural area near Osceola.

IOWA—Winds of up to 80 miles an hour whipped across the state in the wake of a series of small twisters that did extensive damage to farms in Monona County, south of Sioux City.

NEBRASKA—A tornado ripped up buildings on two farms and did some damage in the town of Auburn in the southeastern part of the state.

INDIANA—Tornadoes struck scattered areas from Wawaka in the north to Becks Mill in the far south, but no serious injuries were reported.

ILLINOIS—A strong wind gust measured at 80 m.p.h. whipped through Chicago. It swept nine pedestrians into a 10-foot deep building excavation in the heart of the m.p.h. The roof of a hangar was Loop. All were hospitalized.

4 Brothers Die In Fire

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 3 (AP)—Four small brothers perished this afternoon in a fire that swept a building used by their father to store wood fruit crates.

The children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hunter, were Vernon Lee, 5, Dennis Ray, 4, Jerry Wayne, 3, and Roger Glenn, 2.

Firemen theorized the boys might have been playing with matches.

WRECKED BY TORNADO—The Sand Knitting Mill in Berlin, Wis., built three years ago, was virtually wrecked by a tornado yesterday. Eighteen workers were injured, five or six seriously.

Twin Who Slew Cub Scout Termed Incurably Insane

WHEELING, April 3 (AP)—A psychiatrist testified today that young Tommy Williams killed 9-year-old Cub Scout David Powell to "satisfy the need to do away with" Tommy's father.

The psychiatrist, Dr. H. Sinclair Tait, said Tommy is insane and it wouldn't be safe to set him free on the streets. Tait said Tommy suffers from an incurable psychopathic disorder.

Tait gave jurors frightening glimpses into some dark corners of abnormal psychology as he testified as the first defense witness at the trial of the 14-year-old Tommy.

It was the second day of the youth's trial in Ohio County Intermediate Court for the bludgeoning murder of the Powell child. Tait is superintendent of Weston State Hospital, where Tommy and his twin brother Joseph underwent psychiatric examination for three weeks.

The defense does not deny Tommy committed the murder, but claims he was insane and has asked for a verdict that will commit him to a mental hospital.

The prosecution, contending robbery was the motive, seeks a first degree murder conviction and a sentence of life imprisonment.

From the time Tommy was 1 until he was 4, his father, Thomas Williams, Sr., was in the Navy. With his father away, Tommy developed too close a relationship with his mother, Tait testified.

The father was quoted that when he came home from the Navy, Tommy kicked him and was "very difficult." Tait's explanation of the conduct was that "Tommy could not share his mother with his father." Tait continued:

"At about age 12 . . . it was too much for Tommy. He was torn between his attraction to his mother and the disapproval of this relationship (marriage) and he couldn't transfer his love to his father."

Tait said Tommy "symbolically" killed David Powell to free himself from an unconscious incestuous tie with his mother.

Charleston Gazette Loses In Libel Suit

PINEVILLE, W. Va., April 3 (AP)—J. Paul England, who claimed the Charleston Gazette falsely accused him of trading his vote in the Legislature for state insurance contracts, won a $5,000 damage verdict against the paper today.

England, a Democratic member of the House of Delegates from Wyoming County, had asked $100,000 in the libel suit in Wyoming Circuit Court.

The verdict came after almost nine hours of deliberation by the jury, including approximately 50 minutes today. The jury got the case last Friday morning and, still in disagreement Friday night, it was given a recess until this morning.

Gazette attorney Charles G. Peters moved to set aside the verdict and indicated that, if it stands, the newspaper will appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Farm Conferees Resume Work

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—A Senate-House compromise group tackled today the politically touchy issue of price supports and soil bank payments for corn and livestock feed grains.

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) said the conference committee had agreed to add oats, barley, grain sorghums and rye to the list of crops eligible for mandatory price supports and soil bank payments.

But he and other conferees also decided to junk a Senate-approved provision for doing this.

"We hope to avoid a distortion that would put all the feed grains into government loans and storage and at the same time take some of the pressure off corn," Poage said.

It is the final major point in dispute between the five senators and five House members who have been trying to hammer out a compromise election-year farm bill.

It is important politically because Midwest states and others in the commercial corn belt often have determined the winning candidate and parties in presidential and congressional election contests.

Present plans are to have the compromise farm bill ready for House action soon after the present congressional recess ends next Monday.

Supporters of the Eisenhower farm program predict a veto for the patchwork bill unless it is ordered revised by the House or Senate before going to the White House.

Greenglass' Parole Application Denied

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The U. S. Parole Board today denied the parole application of David Greenglass, 34, admitted atomic spy who was the chief government witness in the 1951 Rosenberg espionage trial.

Greenglass pleaded guilty to the espionage charge, and drew a 15-year sentence.

He was the chief accuser at the trial of his sister, Ethel Rosenberg, and her husband, Julius. He testified that when he was an Army technician working on the A-bomb at Los Alamos, N. M., he passed secret information to them.

The Rosenbergs were convicted of giving the atom bomb data to the Soviet Union and were put to death in Sing Sing prison in 1953.

Fraudulence Verdict Upheld

The recent investigation by the State Department of Employment Security into the prosecution and conviction of a Frostburg man for fraudulently obtaining unemployment benefits has shown that the prosecution was "entirely proper."

Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the State Department of Employment Security, ordered the investigation on March 22 into the case of James H. Richardson when the man appealed his conviction in Trial Magistrate's Court here on March 16.

Kimble's report noted that the special probe shows that no action should be taken to set aside the conviction of Richardson since the disposition of the case seems from the evidence to have been entirely proper.

The case against Richardson was handled by the State's Attorney's office on information furnished by the Department of Employment Security.

On the basis of this evidence, Richardson was fined $100 and sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail by Magistrate J. Milton Dick. Sentence was suspended on the condition he would make restitution of $47 in two weeks.

Later Richardson, who had pleaded guilty when brought before Magistrate Dick, entered an appeal in his case to Allegany County Circuit Court.

With an affidavit, he submitted three payroll checks from the coal company where he had been employed. He claimed, in the affidavit, that the signatures on the three checks were not his and said he had not seen them.

Kimble said his department's investigation revealed that the claimant was prosecuted because two former employers reported earnings during the period in 1955 when he received benefits, and which earnings he had not reported.

One of these employers reported earnings from May 26 to June 8 in excess of $100, when the claimant reported only $5 for that period, the report stated.

After Richardson's trial, Kimble's statement continues, on information his department received, he (Kimble) called for a special investigation to determine whether or not the evidence, including new evidence, would support a motion to vacate the conviction in Circuit Court.

The three checks were turned over to James Phillips, head of the Department's legal division, along with the affidavit by Richardson that he had not endorsed them or authorized anyone else to endorse them, Kimble's report said.

Phillips also procured from one of the owners of the coal company that had employed Richardson two pay checks to Richardson dated June 1 and June 8.

It is these two checks that represent wages for the period for which benefits were claimed by Richardson, Kimble added. The first three checks turned over to Phillips were for periods following the claim period.

Kimble's report stated that the first endorsement on all five checks is purportedly that of the claimant. In order to determine which, if any, of these checks were endorsed by the claimant, so that a conclusion could be reached as to whether or not he had earnings that he failed to report, the endorsements of all five checks were compared with known signatures of Richardson by Capt. Anthony F. Nelligan of the Baltimore Police Department, Kimble's report explained. Capt. Nelligan is the document examiner in the Baltimore Police Department's Crime Laboratory.

The report of Nelligan, Kimble's investigation report states, shows that the endorsements on the first three checks turned over to Phillips were not made by James H. Richardson, but it appears from the report that those on the two checks covering the claim period were made by the claimant.

The report of the Crime Laboratory forces the Department of Employment Security to the conclusion that no action should be taken to set aside the conviction of Richardson, Kimble's report said.

Among those receiving copies of the report were Magistrate Dick and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Four Local Men To Be Inducted

Four local men will leave for induction into the armed forces at Fairmont on April 12, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local Selective Service boards.

The group includes Harvey Melvin Cooper Jr., of RD 4, this city; Harold Lee Hull, 34 Virginia Avenue, and Thomas Owens Keech, 920 Maryland Avenue, all from Board 27, and Richard Charles Rudolph, 602 Central Avenue, from Board 28.

Fahey said the group will report to the Post Office building on April 12, and leave for Fairmont by Eastern Greyhound Bus.

County Group Opposes Gas Rate Boost

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners went on record yesterday against the request of the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company for an increase in rates.

Commissioner James Orr moved that the board enter into the fight against the proposed rate hike and it was passed unanimously.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, has been instructed to work with Thomas B. Finan, attorney for the Mayor and Council of Cumberland, in presenting the objections of the two governmental units to the gas rate hike request.

The two attorneys will present the case for the city and county officials before the Public Service Commission when hearings are held on the C&A Gas Company request for a rate increase.

Mayor Okey Michael of Westernport wrote the commissioners to ask permission for digging a ditch in which to lay a 6-inch and also a 12-inch section of pipe on Philo Avenue.

The pipeline is to be used to furnish water for the new Bruce High School under construction.

Mrs. Lavina G. Bennett, Pershing Drive, Potomac Park, complained of water running off the street and causing a ditch to become filled with debris. The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

An order was passed for the installation of 30-mile an hour speed signs along Cash Valley Road. Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson made a motion for the erection of the signs with a 25-mile an hour limit. Commissioner Orr suggested the speed limit be 30 miles and the original motion was amended to that extent.

Liquor Board Cites Violations

Two Frostburg establishments were cited yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners for hearings Tuesday, April 17 at 10:30 a. m. to show cause why their permits should not be suspended or revoked.

Both licensees, Farrady Post 24, American Legion, 27 West Main Street, and Hanna's, Grant and Green streets are charged with the same violation.

According to the citation, the Legion and Hanna licensees are charged with allowing the consumption of alcoholic beverages on the premises after midnight a recent Saturday and also of failing to have all bottles and glasses removed from the tables and bar. It was also charged the two establishments were operated contrary to the peace and safety of the community. The two citations will be served by sheriff's deputies.

The board also cleared the way for hearings of all licensees later this month. Applications and renewal requests of licensees were signed by the board members, Walter C. Capper, chairman; Stanley Hamilton and Howard W. Vandegriff.

Events Are Slated By UCT Council

A promotional dinner will be held by Council 179, United Commercial Travelers, on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Elks Club on South Centre Street.

W. L. Poole, Roanoke, Va., supreme field representative, will attend.

The UCT will also meet Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall on South Mechanic Street with new officers presiding. Initiation of new members will also take place.

On Sunday the UCT memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. at Centre Street Methodist Church.

GUEST CONDUCTOR — Bertram N. Haigh, instructor of brass instruments at the Concordia Conservatory of Music, Moorhead, Minn., will be guest conductor of the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band at its concert Thursday at 8 p.m. in Fort Hill High School Auditorium. He will also present assembly concerts and band clinics at four county high schools Thursday and Friday.

Summer Rec Program Is Under Study

The Recreation Department, looking ahead to June, is conducting a study of its summer program, seeking means to improve it and best serve neighborhood communities.

Director Robert E. Pence, who with his assistant, Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, is looking over plans, said two general problems must be faced first hand. They are the fact that each of the neighborhood programs is different and the right person must be found to fill the right job.

Pence said that in past years recreation was a "baby-sitting job," but today it has taken an entirely different meaning since children enrolled in playground programs learn something.

The department is understaffed. At the same time the city's $1 per capita expenditure for recreation is far below the recommended $3 per capita.

The department is accepting applications for leader jobs until April 23, when all will be screened, Pence said. It is planned to open the 16 city playdates June 18 or about 12 days after schools close for the summer.

Pence said playground equipment has been repaired and painted. Certain projects are under way to improve facilities. For example, at Thomas S. Post and Lamont Street, the play area has been fenced in and a similar project is planned at Mapleside, North End will receive tennis courts; Lamont will be blacktopped and Post will receive a backstop and baseline screen.

The improvements at these playgrounds were needed to bring them up to the standard of the others, Pence added.

Meanwhile, a start has been made on a beautification program. Over 100 hardwood and pine trees have been planted at various sites and flowering dogwood at Pine Avenue. Pence pointed out this is a long-range project and the effect probably will not be noticeable for four or five years.

The idea behind the beautification, he said, is to make all playgrounds beauty spots and assets to property values in the neighborhoods.

City Licenses Deadline May 1

Deadline for renewal or taking out of city licenses is May 1, City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery announced yesterday.

Any person, persons, firm or corporation without a license on that date is subject to a fine from $5 to $100, Ullery said.

Pool room licenses must be applied for on or before April 15. A penalty of from $25 to $100 is provided for those without a license in this category.

Licenses are being issued at Ullery's office in City Hall.

Roads Official Cites Vandalism At Garage Here

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday that vandalism has taken place at the Franklin garage during the past weekend.

A large wheeled broom, which is drawn by a motor vehicle, was moved across the garage yard and evidently got out of control of boys who are believed to be causing the damage. The broom crashed through part of the fencing around the yard.

Chapman said the garage grounds and building are left untended on Saturdays and Sundays and boys in the North End area have been trespassing on the property. The damage is bad enough, Chapman said, but he fears some of the youngsters may become injured while in the garage yard.

Chapman also said he has received complaints of clay being deposited on Blank Road in Mt. Savage by trucks hauling the material from a clay strip mining operation. The clay is used at the Mt. Savage Refractories, according to Chapman, but another concern has a contract for the hauling.

He said that the truckers stop on Blank Road, which is hard-surfaced, and then knock the accumulated clay from the dual wheels of the trucks. Chapman said he checked the situation and found clay up to a depth of four inches on the thoroughfare. He said the

Flood Control Funds Are Received By City

The city has received $23,000 from the federal government as part of its share from the purchase of property for flood control purposes on West Side.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan at Monday's Mayor and Council meeting informed Finance Commissioner John J. Long that the funds had been received.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson asked Finan what percentage of the funds outstanding had been returned.

Finan said about 50 per cent. He said the $23,000 was on the first group of properties which is estimated at $26,000. Nothing has been paid on a second group but both will amount to between $40,000 and $50,000.

Among routine actions were these:

The purchase price on Lots 2 and 3 in Block 6, Ridgedale Addition, sold to Robert V. Vandegrift, et ux., was increased from $120 to $200 and Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute the deed.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz in a report of street activities for last month said 35 paved streets, 9 alleys and 400 catch basins were cleaned; holes were filled with blacktop on 10 streets and 2 alleys; and with concrete on 8 streets, 1 alley and 2 sidewalks.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said 13 building permits, valued at $49,525 were issued last month. Two occupancy permit applications were granted and another filed but withdrawn. Seven sewer permits were also granted.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 80,510,000 gallons compared to 88,240,000 the same period a year ago. The daily average was 11,501,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is two inches above the crest of the spillway, in Lake Koon one foot below.

If the bride-to-be is really punctilious, she writes each letter of thanks as the gift arrives.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Gift Giving And Receiving

There are one or two rules in regard to gift-giving and receiving that are most important, particularly in regard to what a girl can and cannot accept. For example, before the engagement, a young lady should not accept jewelry from a man. His gifts should be relatively impersonal and not costly — handkerchiefs, a scarf, candy, or a book.

Occasionally, a too-expensive or too-intimate gift is sent by a young man who may not know any better. If this happens, a girl must be very charming and tactful. She shouldn't show the gift off to anyone, or try to explain it to her friends. She simply returns it, saying something like this, "I'm sure you didn't realize this, but I cannot possibly accept such a gift from you. I do want you to know how much I appreciate your great kindness." If she is very kind, he won't be too embarrassed and respect her all the more for her firmness.

A bride-elect may accept jewelry and other expensive gifts from her fiancé. But, she cannot accept wearing apparel of any kind — or money, a car, a house, or furniture. In other words, anything that would appear as "maintenance." She may drive his car and help select the furniture for their home, but she can't accept his support in any way until she takes his name.

When the wedding gifts begin to arrive, the bride should write her thank you notes as promptly as possible. Not only should she show the sender this courtesy, but promptness gives words of thanks a warmth that is hard to recapture after letter writing is put off for a long time.

Aldridge, Citizenship; and Mrs. Showman, Publicity, gave reports on their individual sessions. TISSUE WOOLS
BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The wise woman will buy her 1936 wardrobe with climate control in mind, says Adele Simpson. "You shouldn't buy a spring suit for only a few weeks wear around Easter," says Mrs. Simpson. "The new featherweight wools and the tweedy light-weight silks make it possible to be comfortable in suits almost the year round. And that's what more and more women want. They like to wear them in spring, summer, fall—and even in winter under a fur coat."

Informal Dance To Be Held Saturday

Algonquin Forest No. 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will hold an informal after-Easter dance Saturday.

It will be at the Ali Ghan City Club with music from 9 until 12 o'clock, by Doc Kenny's Orchestra. The public is invited.

The club elected Miss Nan Livingstone, Mrs. Margaret Bittering and Miss Anna Durst to the Nominating committee. Miss Helen Beck appointed Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, Mrs. Kathleen Burke and Miss Gertrude Wolfe to the Auditing committee. The Spanish motif was carried

Adele has concentrated on a wide variety of suits in her spring collection, done in everything from tissue worsteds as light as a handkerchief to silks that look like wool and cottons that look like silk. Stars of the suit parade are her three-piece peel-off bolero outfits with high-rising slim skirts, curved boleros that come just below the bustline, and baby blouses cut just like the boleros, and just as brief. You peel off the bolero, explains Mrs. Simpson, and you have a cool, trim outfit beneath. The bolero idea has been used in a number of ways in the Simpson collection. Sometimes it tops a sleeveless sheath dress and has a boxy matching jacket on top of the works. In this case you can peel twice. When the box jacket is removed you have what appears to be a sleek, covered-up sheath dress. Remove the bolero and you have a low-necked, short-sleeved or sleeveless dress that can take you with ease to a cocktail party or informal dinner. "Women want clothes they can live in these days," says Mrs. Simpson. "Nobody can afford to have clothes that hang in the closet half the time. That's why I am so happy with the wonderful new chiffon-weight wools and crisp, suitable silks that make it possible to have a climate-controlled year-round wardrobe."

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as 1/2 gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Teen-Ager Violence Wave Hits Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—Teen-age crime and violence have made a general sweep through Baltimore during the last several weeks.

Whether it's caused by spring, or a full moon, or coincidence, make your own guess. But the records prove its presence.

The high point came yesterday when an unruly young crowd estimated at 20,000 by Baltimore zoo officials swept across its grounds, trampling flowers and shrubs, stoning animals and punching them with long sticks and generally raising Cain.

One girl in the milling mob was knifed. An 18-year-old Negro youth was jailed for the cutting.

Other acts of violence during the last fortnight attributed to adolescents included:

1. Twelve purse snatches and two holdups. In one of the robberies, a 15-year-old girl was forced to open a cash register with her arm twisted behind her back. The other was by a gun-toting youth.
2. Two boys, 19 and 17, were held in $40,000 bail on charges involving 45 home burglaries in the Guilford section.
3. A gang of five teen-agers, three under 16, were being held in a series of 20 burglaries. Police said the gang brazenly returned to several places it had hit before. The burglaries occurred within a six-week period after members of the gang were released from the Maryland Training School for Boys.
4. Three boys—12, 13 and 15—were being held on charges of starting a $250,000 fire which swept through a lumber yard a week ago. Another six-alarm fire within 24 hours was believed by arson investigators to have been ignited by children.
5. Automobile theft by young people continued high. Few arrests have been made, officers said, because of the increased tendency of youngsters to leave "hot-wired" cars on sidestreets after a night of joy riding. However, two youths were picked up after a high-speed chase when they were trapped in a stolen car in a dead-end alley.
6. A 16-year-old girl was arrested in the ransacked music room of Baltimore City College.

Baltimore City's Budget Director Since 1932 Dies

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—Herbert Fallin, budget director of Baltimore City and a city employee for 40 years, died early today. He was 66.

He had been seriously ill for a month, during which time he underwent three brain operations.

After joining the city comptroller's office in 1915, he held the jobs of auditor and chief clerk until 1932, when he was named budget director.

In all, he served under five mayors, both Democrats and Republicans—Preston, Broening, Jackson, McKeldin and D'Alesandro.

His death brought glowing tribute from many.

Said Mayor D'Alesandro: "The death of Mr. Fallin is a great loss to the city of Baltimore. As a public official, he virtually was in a class by himself.

"Devoted to his work, he was unusually able and conscientious. There is no doubt he was one of the greatest budget experts in the country.

"The personal loss to me is beyond measure. Not only was he invaluable as a coworker, but he was a warm, personal friend. He was one of the finest men I have ever known."

Said Gov. McKeldin: "Herbert Fallin was a public official whose integrity, ability and devotion to duty were sources of great comfort and confidence to the mayors and other fiscal officials of Baltimore. His strictness in planning of public expenditures may have made department heads unhappy at times, but I am sure they never questioned his fairness and sincerity. I doubt not that each considered him a true friend in the long run.

"I know he was my valued friend before, during and since my term as mayor of Baltimore. He served me and the people of Maryland well as a consultant to the Commission on Administrative Organization of the State.

"He long will be missed as a friend and associate in government. His accomplishments will be of lasting benefit to his fellow citizens."

Argument Fails To Convince Judge

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—That stuff the cop took away from me wasn't gin," Frank Rocky, 50, told Magistrate Linwood Koger today when he was arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge.

"It was turpentine to treat my sore toenails."

The Magistrate, unconvinced, told Rocky, the fine would be $25 and costs.

Bids On Thurmont Bypass Span Opened

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—The M. J. Grove Lime Co., of Limekiln, Md., was the apparent low bidder today to construct a five-span steel bridge over Maryland 77 and Hunting Creek on the Thurmont bypass on relocated U. S. 15. Its bid was $185,337.50.

The bids were opened by the State Roads Commission. Twelve bids were submitted on that Frederick County job.

The length of the bridge will be 275 feet, with a road width of 40 feet.

In other bids opened, Dickerson, Inc., of Monroe, N. C., submitted the lowest of four bids with $368,763 to grade, drain, widen, relocate and surface a 4.5-mile section of Maryland 404 near Denton.

The Choptank Construction Co. of Cambridge bid $149,500, lower than the one other submitted, to construct a brick and concrete building on old U. S. 50 near Cambridge, on State Roads Commission property.

Man Spared Jail By Unique Story

DETROIT, April 3 (AP)—Even the judge agreed Thomas Davis had a unique story when arraigned on a drunk driving charge yesterday.

Davis said a bartender refused to cash his pay check Saturday unless he bought a drink. "I had only one little one," Davis said.

Judge George Murphy changed the charge to a lesser count of reckless driving and fined Davis $75. If convicted of drunk driving under Detroit law, Davis would have faced a mandatory jail sentence.

Coordinated Sedition Laws Urged By Beall

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-Md.) said today he believes State and Federal governments should strive for "better coordination" in controlling subversive activities.

The senator from Western Maryland made the comment in discussing the Supreme Court decision that, in effect, invalidates State anti-subversion laws in preference to Federal ones.

The decision makes most of Maryland's so-called Ober Law impotent.

"I think it is desirable that the states be permitted to do their own proper share in this (subversive control) problem. If State laws are in conflict with Federal law, then perhaps better coordination is the answer."

Sen. Butler, Maryland's other Republican senator, could not be reached for comment.

Observatory May Be Built In West Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 3 (AP)—West Virginia now is at the "top of the heap" in a study of possible sites for a proposed national radio astronomy observatory, it was disclosed here today.

General details regarding a feasibility study connected with the project were outlined for newsmen for the first time at Gov. William C. Marland's weekly news conference.

Taking part in the discussion were Dr. B. J. Bok of the Harvard College Observatory and Dr. R. M. Emberson of Associated Universities, Inc., who were among a group which conferred with Marland earlier in the day.

Dr. Bok and Dr. Emberson confirmed in a statement prepared for newsmen that "considerable attention" has been given to a possible site in the Green Bank-Arborvale area of Pocahontas County.

Options were obtained earlier on 6,000 acres of ground which might be needed for what has been described as the nation's first major radio astronomy center.

Japan Seeks Return Of Soviet-Held POWs

Joseph James Elected Mayor With Two New Councilmen

Frostburg Also Approves Plant Bond Issue

Loar, Evans Join Eberly And Martens

FROSTBURG—Joseph E. James was successful yesterday in his second try for Mayor of Frostburg in the first regular election in Allegany County in which voting machines were used, according to complete but unofficial returns.

Herbert E. Loar and James H. Evans were elected city commissioners along with two holdovers from the present council, William J. Eberly and George F. Martens.

Some 95.16 per cent of the voters who participated in a special referendum on the question of an $85,000 bond issue for construction of a new building to house the Berkowitz Company pajama plant endorsed the proposal.

The town now can proceed immediately with plans to construct the plant. Rent from the building will retire the bonds and pay off all the indebtedness on the project.

The vote for mayor:

Joseph E. James 773
Arthur W. Thomas 558
Jesse Jacobs 506
Charles P. Rafferty 59

The vote for commissioners:

Herbert E. Loar 1084
William J. Eberly 1035
George F. Martens 968
James H. Evans 773
William W. Sluss Jr. 758
John R. Hendley 741
William Preston 560
Harold W. Connor 416
Francis P. Peretti 347

The referendum:

For 1259
Against 63

Frostburg officials were pleased with the speed in obtaining the election results last night. In contrast to the waiting game which has featured previous elections, the complete but unofficial results were known 30 minutes after the polls closed.

Some 1,831 residents out of 2,789 voted yesterday. That percentage of 69.2 voting is considered good in view of the small amount of advance campaigning around the town. In many cases when one member of a family voted early he returned home to tell others about the ease of voting by machine and others soon exercised their right of franchise.

James, who will take office May 7, made a previous bid for mayor in 1952 and lost to Jacobs by only 19 votes. Yesterday's unofficial tally shows him 115 votes ahead of his nearest competitor, Arthur W. Thomas, the retiring city police commissioner. Thomas had been a member of council for seven successive terms. James did not seek office two years ago because of ill health. Mayor Perry W. Myers is retiring.

In winning yesterday James led his three opponents in Ward 2 voting at the Eagles home, and Ward 3, balloting at the L&W Esso Servicenter. He had 272 votes in Ward 2 and 280 in Ward 3. In Ward 1, voting at the Fire Station, he was second to Jacobs, 238 to 221.

Loar, making his first bid for elective office, led the ticket with 441 votes in Ward 1, was second with 330 in Ward 2 and third with 313 in Ward 3. He was district state and county tax collector in the Frostburg area from 1947 through 1950.

Eberly was elected to a fourth term in council and Martens won for the first time. Fifth in both 1952 and 1954 elections, Martens was appointed to fill the vacancy which occurred when Paul C. Haberlein resigned from council to become a deputy sheriff. Evans was an unsuccessful candidate in his first try in 1954. He was running yesterday on a ticket with Jacobs for mayor and Preston and Sluss for council. As it turned out he defeated Sluss by 15 votes for the fourth seat in council.

Hendley, who has served six terms in council, finished sixth in the nine-man race and will return from City Hall politics along with Thomas, Loar, Eberly and Martens were running on a ticket with Thomas and Hendley.

KEYSER—The Mineral County Health Department received information yesterday that 43 per cent of all polio vaccine shipped into West Virginia is purchased by the State Health Department for free distribution through the county units.

The other 57 per cent is bought by private physicians.

Mineral County's first allotment for free distribution amounts to 882 cubic centimeters which means that 882 persons who registered for the vaccine will receive their first inoculations at a clinic to be held Thursday, beginning at 8:30 a. m., in the Grace Methodist Church on South Mineral Street. The clinic will be staffed by local physicians, nurses, Polio Foundation workers, health department personnel and lay volunteers.

Because of the limited amount of vaccine in the first allotment to Mineral County, it will be impossible to take care of all of the 1,650 persons who registered for the vaccine at this first clinic. However, due to stepped-up production of the vaccine by manufacturers, additional vaccine is expected to arrive in the state within the next few weeks. This additional amount of vaccine will be distributed to the counties whose demand has not been met—up to 43 percent of the total population in the eligible age group, and expectant mothers.

Mineral County will be among the counties which may receive additional vaccine. This means that those persons who have registered for the vaccine, but who do not receive it at the clinic Thursday, may receive it later this spring as more vaccine becomes available.

The goal of the State Health Department program is to vaccinate as many children and expectant mothers as possible with the amount of free vaccine available.

Questioned In Theft Of Diamond Ring

A 17-year-old Garrett County girl was questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's office in connection with the theft of a $200 diamond ring from a jewelry store in Frostburg.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, said the theft took place Saturday and he brought the girl in for questioning during his investigation.

land is "delighted" with the start of the project.

Some Marylanders, he said, think the state ends at Hancock, but "Governor McKeldin knows better."

In remarks preceding his formal speech, Gov. McKeldin said Maryland's road building program was started by Governor William Preston Lane Jr., whose administration "did a marvelous job" under a $200,000 program.

He said that when he became governor, he urged a long-range program which resulted in the $568,000,000 12-year program.

It is not a political program, he said, but a plan developed and backed by the people of the state, who are paying the bill by an increase in gasoline taxes.

Was Happy Day

McCain termed the Martin Mountain work of major importance and added the SRC hopes to get work started this year on the west slope of Polish Mountain, which he termed "one of the nastiest stretches" of road in Western Maryland.

It was a happy day for all of the Western Maryland officials present.

"This is just what we need," said William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

"Cumberland," Mayor Roy W. Eves said, feels "you are going to have the road fixed so you can come to Cumberland."

"We hope," he said, "to greet you with an Expressway."

"It is a day to be long remembered by the people of Western Maryland," said State Senator Charles M. See.

He predicted that the modern highway, a dream here for so many years, will bring many tourists to enjoy the scenery and points of historic interest in Western Maryland.

"Heaven be praised for this," said Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, who testified to the efforts of Senator Beall to secure improvements for this area.

Luncheon Is Held

The road project, Rep. Hyde said, is part of the nation's road building program, the greatest in the history of the world.

The thanks of the Route 40 Association was expressed by Edward Wolfe, president, who said that group wants, as soon as possible, a

Four Trainmen Seek Damages Of $2,200,000

BALTIMORE, April 3 (AP)—Four former trainmen who charged they were illegally discharged in August, 1954 when they joined a rival union, today filed suit in Federal Court asking a total of $2,200,000 damages from the Western Maryland Railway and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

They asked $800,000 damages from the railroad to compensate them for loss of employment and of pension and retirement rights, and $1,400,000 punitive damages from the trainmen brotherhood which they said forced the company to discharge them.

The four trainmen are James C. Lanke, Robert F. Carter and Joseph F. Bowling, all of Baltimore, and William T. Evans of Severna Park.

The complaint said the four had been longtime employees of the railroad and had been members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. But they left the union and joined another, the United Railroad Operating Crafts (UROC) thinking that membership in the second union fulfilled their obligations under the union-shop provisions of the railroad's labor agreement. The Railway Labor Act requires trainmen to belong to a union having national scope, and also bargaining authority with the particular railroad, according to Edward L. Rich Jr., attorney for the discharged men.

He said they thought the UROC was such a union when they joined it.

The complaint added that when the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen demanded that the railroad discharged the four, they applied for reinstatement in the brotherhood and offered to pay up back dues.

new road from Hagerstown to the Pennsylvania line.

Del. George R. Hughes Jr., minority leader in the House of Delegates, said the Allegany County Delegation has been waiting for the road improvement for a long time and was not going to delay it a moment.

"Governor, take over on the shovel," he said in closing the brief speaking program.

Following the ceremonies, some 70 of the officials attending the groundbreaking attended a buffet luncheon at the Cumberland Country Club.

The contract for the 2½-mile Martin Mountain reconstruction job was let to the Bero Construction Company of Hampton, Va., for $1,149,065.

It calls for work to be completed in 360 days, but SRC officials said they hope it may be completed by next August.

Are Arms Cuts Really Coming?

Prospects for disarmament seem brighter today than since the cold war started a decade ago. "Disarmament," of course, is a misnomer. At the session of the United Nations subcommittee on disarmament in London nobody is considering anything more ambitious than arms reduction—and on a quite modest scale, at that.

But a rough balance of power has been achieved. Both sides, armed to the gills with nuclear weapons, seem to see that they have more to lose than to gain by war. Perhaps it is now possible to achieve a token arms reduction.

It is the United States that again takes the initiative. Two new proposals have been made to the Russians. Observers note hopefully that Andrei Gromyko, representing Russia, acts more affable and more businesslike than he did before the de-bunking of Stalin began last month.

First proposal of the U. S. was for Russia and America each to set aside an area and permit U.N. inspection teams to enter freely and practice checking and supervising military preparedness. Each nation would choose an area without top-secret installations, containing between 20,000 and 30,000 square miles. (South Carolina contains approximately 31,000 square miles).

The second proposal was for both Russia and the United States to cut their military manpower to 2.5 million. This would represent a cut of roughly 14 per cent for the United States and 37 per cent for Russia. It would involve no cut whatever, though, in the forces of Red China and the heavily armed satellites of the Soviet Union.

The United States has already made unilateral cuts. Four years ago American military manpower totaled 3.6 million as against 4.0 million for Russia. Now the figure for the United States is down to 2.9, while Russia's hasn't dropped.

These proposals will make it harder for Russia to depict the United States as opposed to disarmament. But it is just possible that the Soviet leaders really want arms reduction now.

Harry Dexter White Story

Just as the Burgess and Maclean espionage cases will not die down in Great Britain, so does the Harry Dexter White espionage case stay alive in the United States. The fact that Lauchlin Currie, formerly administrative assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has lost his American citizenship, makes one think of White because Currie was one of the select group of White's friends and associates who met at the Athens Cafe in Washington on May 11 (no year given). The list was found among Harry Dexter White's papers with the following names:

Mr. Appleby, Exec. Offices, Mr. C. B. Baldwin, Mr. Oscar Chapman, Interior (He will invite Mr. Fortas and Mr. Mike Strauss), Mr. Ben Cohen, White House, Dr. Oscar Cox, FEA, Dr. L. B. Currie, White House, Dr. Ezekiel, Agri., Mr. Murray Latimer, Dr. Lubin, White House, Mr. David Niles, White House, Mr. Randolph Paul, Mr. Milo Perkins, Mr. Pritchard, N. W. A., Mr. Aubrey Williams, Mr. Fortas, Interior (Under Sec.), Mr. Jonathan Daniels, White House, Mr. James Rowe, (?) Mr. Wayne Coy, Budget Bur., (?) Mr. Leon Henderson, (?) Major Kades, Mr. Michael Strauss, 1st Asst. Secy., Interior.

It has now been made public, along with other documents, by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. A trying volume to read, because it is only a compilation of documents from which it is impossible to draw any conclusions, it is nevertheless important because just as the British have suddenly realized the dangers of espionage by British officials in the interest of Soviet Russia, so here in this country, despite the work of various congressional committees, the FBI, the Department of Justice and other agencies, the surface has not yet been scratched and we are not yet in a position to define in unmistakable terms, which will hold up in any court, what is a spy, what is a subversive, who is just a fool, who is a fighter for a strict interpretation of individual rights according to the Constitution.

Take this list, for instance. It includes more non-Communists than Communists and precisely what does it prove that Harry Dexter White arranged for them to dine at this rather obscure restaurant on a day in May? What did they talk about?

However, when we look at the record, we find some curious relationships. Paul Appleby, for instance, is now associated with Governor Harriman in New York State, in charge of the budget. In 1946, Appleby was reported to have said:

"A man in the employ of the government had just as much right to be a member of the Communist party as he has to be a member of the Democratic or Republican party."

In 1953, he explained this away, as follows:
"The real character of the Communist party greatly differentiating it from our conventional parties had not then been revealed."

But that is nonsense. Mr. Appleby must have read or heard something about the Russian Revolution by the year 1946. He must have read or heard something about the Soviet form of government, the one-party system, the power of the politburo, the authority of Stalin. He could not have achieved the important position of under secretary of agriculture and be as ignorant as he claimed to be of one of the most important movements in the history of our generation. I know nothing about Paul Appleby's relationship to the Communist party, one way or the other, but it is fairly clear from his statements and from a memorandum dated March 23, 1944, in which he recommends Nathan Gregory Silvermaster for his loyalty and good citizenship, that Harry Dexter White knew how to use highly placed friends and that Appleby did not know how to resist such men as White, Lauchlin Currie or Alger Hiss who wanted to designate Appleby as assistant secretary general of the United Nations.

For all we know, this party at the Athens Cafe might have been nothing more important than a sorority meeting in a girl's high school, but then in the development of the Washington bureaucracy, these were important persons who held key positions in many departments and who were able to influence the decisions of those above them. It would be of public value if one of the persons on this list came forward with a picture of what these Number Two men in government were doing under the leadership of Harry Dexter White. Perhaps they will say that they were only appraising the difference between vodka and slivovitz.

"Tell Him To Stay, We May Use That Act"

Small Business Problems Require New Approach

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Lately there has been developed in Congress an understandable concern for the "small" businesses of America, and legislation has been proposed to help them.

But the more such proposals are studied the more they appear to be methods of impairing and retarding larger businesses—the companies which employ the largest number of employees.

The tendency of some Democrats in Congress is to assume that it is the function of the federal government to equalize competition—to confer somehow on the small businesses the advantages enjoyed by big businesses and that the way to do it is to start weakening the larger enterprises.

Sensible Approach Ignored
The sensible approach—to study the weaknesses of small businesses and enable them to grow stronger by the very methods used by the larger concerns—has not seeped in yet. This is largely because those members of Congress who usually attempt to discuss these problems are themselves not familiar with personal experience with the fundamental questions that plague small business in America.

First of all, there is little understanding of just what is meant by a "small" business. Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, who is rightly concerned about the tax question as it affects smaller companies, offered an amendment last month which would give companies with incomes of less than $225,000 a slightly lower corporation tax to pay while those with incomes in excess of that sum would be required to pay more taxes than under present law.

But the question is "what is small?" One steel business with a volume of sales annually of $300,000,000 considers itself a "small steel company" when it views its larger competitor like the U. S. Steel Corporation with a volume of sales running close to two billion dollars.

The present law gives a little break to "small" companies by applying lower tax rates to those with incomes of $25,000 or under. But that's the psychology of the year 1900. Today a small business is one that makes $500,000 to $1,000,000 a year before taxes in certain lines or one that does a volume of $20,000,000 in an industry where the largest competitor has a gross income of $100,000,000 a year.

Deduction Helps Some

Too often it is forgotten that a company in some industries which makes even $10,000,000 a year in profits before taxes is unable to build up quickly the plant and equipment necessary to compete with the larger companies in its field because the tax laws take 52 per cent a year out of these earnings and leave little for future development after setting aside reserves and paying the wages of invested capital. This means little is available for new plant and machinery to bring costs down. The tax deduction permitted through "depreciation" of equipment bought helps to some extent but not enough.

Our fashion editor assures us that the new Easter bonnets for women are strictly out of the round. After seeing some, we agree—they look just like our idea of flying saucers.

A Colorado veterinarian urges that dogs be put on a strict diet. No more snacks off the shinbones of mail carriers and milk delivery men?

The statistics of income really afford no answer. Size is relative. The hazards of small business are great. Hence investors hesitate to buy stock in them. Worst of all is the way the big labor unions have been frustrating the growth of small businesses. Harold Ruttenberg, who used to be a CIO leader alongside the late Phil Murray and now is the president of a small steel manufacturing company, gave an interview to U. S. News & World Report a few weeks ago outlining the damage done by labor-union leaders nowadays to small businesses in the manufacturing industries. He didn't advocate differentials in pay as between employees in large and small businesses. He said this wouldn't solve anything. But he did say labor union leaders could modernize their thinking and help to get larger productivity and more efficiency into the small plants. It's an area that hasn't been explored at all by Congress and affords more opportunity for improving the health of small businesses than any tax favors.

Parents' Mental Weakness Abets Delinquency

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The juvenile delinquent usually gets all the publicity but little is said about his family or the reasons why mother and father failed to do their rearing job properly. Furthermore, what happens when delinquents or borderline delinquents marry and bear children?

Dr. Mary D. Sheridan studied the intelligence of 100 English mothers who had been convicted of child neglect. Of the group, 70 were found to be imbeciles, idiots, feeble-minded, dull or backward; 25 were normal; and 5 had superior intelligence. Husbands were not included in this survey.

How could these subnormals marry? The answer is easy because even imbeciles can be stable, gentle, contented, and teachable. They make affectionate mothers and faithful wives but incompetent housekeepers. The unstable generally land in an institution before they reach marriageable age.

Parents with inherent mental weaknesses have trouble supporting themselves and caring for their offspring. They may get along at first but after several children arrive, living becomes too complicated; they bog down and become overwhelmed by domestic confusion. Their progeny are prize candidates for truancy and delinquency.

Having a large family of normal youngsters is difficult but a thousand times worse when several of the sons and daughters get into trouble. The situation becomes more serious when both parents lose the will to cope with life. They can't stay out of debt, hold a job, or keep the home and children clean.

Another English study disclosed that when 39 of the older children of problem families took a spouse, only nine of the marriages turned out well. This is a thought-provoking story in itself. British social workers are starting to rehabilitate such families through education.

One big obstacle to improvement is the fact that these families gravitate to the poorest sections of town where there is no stimulus to better themselves. In Rotterdam, socially unsatisfactory families are moved to special suburban estates, where a cultural center provides clinics and lessons in

Benson, Attorney General Brownell Huddle Privately On Cheese Scandal

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It wasn't announced, but Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Attorney General Brownell held a private huddle the other day on the great cheese scandal.

They discussed what to do about the $2,500,000 that the Agriculture Department paid to the big cheese companies merely for some fast paper work. Theoretically, the government bought cheese from the companies, then sold the same cheese back a month later at a lower price. Actually the cheese never left the companies' warehouses.

The whole shocking transaction was reported in this column June 24, 1955. Afterward, Comptroller General Joseph Campbell ruled that the payments to the cheese companies were "unauthorized and improper." But Benson did little about it. He did not even answer queries from Congressman L. H. Fountain (D., N.C.), who wanted the money paid back to the taxpayers.

Last July, Benson was "out of town" when Chairman Fountain asked him to testify before his subcommittee on the cheese and butter transactions. Later, when the comptroller general issued his ruling, the Agriculture Department went over Campbell's head and appealed to Attorney General Herbert Brownell for a fresh decision.

Three months passed without any word from either Benson or Brownell. So finally Rep. Fountain sat down and wrote his fifth letter to Benson, demanding to know why the matter had been brushed aside. "I would appreciate your advising me of the date when such a decision can be expected." Fountain asked.

Again Benson failed to answer. But a reply did come from Undersecretary True D. Morse on Dec. 7, 1955, stating that "we have not... been informed by (the Justice) Department as to the date when its decision can be expected."

Another two months passed and still there was no word from Benson on the outcome of his appeal to Brownell. In desperation Fountain wrote to Brownell directly, demanded to know the reason for the delay. He got an answer, February 15, in which Brownell admitted for the first time that the Justice Department had made its ruling and was waiting to talk the matter over with Benson. Benson and Brownell did get together, but decided—to do nothing.

Opera Vs. Burlesque
Congressman Frank Thompson of New Jersey, who has been crusading for an opera house for the nation's capital, got a cold reception at a closed-door meeting of the House Appropriations Committee.

"What is wrong with the two or three we have now?" exploded Democrat Mike Kirwan of Ohio. "What is wrong with the Interior Department Auditorium, Constitution Hall, the National Theater, Uline Arena, the new Georgetown field house, the Departmental Auditorium, or the Armory?"

"They are not suitable, sir," replied Thompson. "You cannot have a ballet or an opera on their stages."

"There is nothing wrong with that," grumbled Kirwan. "You have to chloroform people to get 500 to look at a ballet. Don't let anybody kid you on that score. It takes a lot of good courage to sit and watch somebody go into a toe dance."

Thompson tried to explain that a lot of people didn't share the Ohioan's views. He pointed out that all the great capitals of the world, from Paris to Rome to Stockholm, had their opera houses. Vienna has just rebuilt the opera house after terrific sacrifice. Yet Washington, capital of the greatest nation, has no opera. He got nowhere.

"Oops, Sorry!"

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — What a relief it must be to those five Hungarian Communists who were hanged in 1949 to learn now that they weren't guilty after all! The present Hungarian Red leaders, who adjusted the noose on these men, now say, "Oops, sorry."

Crazy, isn't it?
The five men who were put to death on the charge that they were conspiring with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia presumably would be hanged all over again today if it could be proved that they were NOT conspiring with Tito. Today, Tito's okay. Then, he was on the Kremlin's loose list.

Will Accuse Himself
As I see it, there's only one thing left for Khrushchev to do — Khrushchev, the Communist party chief who pulled the rug of history from under Stalin at the recent party congress. His condemnation of bygone heroes of the Soviet Union must, in time, take in himself, for, after all, he was the ruthless boss of the Ukraine for years. I expect Khrushchev one day soon will accuse himself of collaborating with the despot Stalin and order himself shot at sunrise.

Your guess is as good as mine when it comes to figuring out what is behind this unprecedented rewriting of Russian history. The National Geographic people estimate that about 100 cities and places which were named for Stalin will undergo a change of name. The new schoolbooks, which all but eliminate Stalin, will cost the Soviet Union many millions of dollars. And what of the countless thousands of Russians who were named for Joe?

I wonder how "Who's Who" would have taken this defrocking of Stalin? Joe had a 50 line biography in "Who's Who" the year he died — longer than those of Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman, Douglas MacArthur and Einstein.

"I am like Oliver Wendell Holmes," argued Kirwan. "He said, 'Give me burlesque.' He went to him until he was 90."

Army Boss Brucker
Secretary of the Army Brucker gave secret information recently to a group of Wall Street bankers who had not been cleared for security.

Addressing a closed meeting of the Calvin Bullock Forum, he told the Wall Streeters that the Army's redstone missile is accurate within one yard for every mile that it is fired. In other words, he said, the redstone can be fired 1,500 miles and hit within 1,500 yards of the target—which is as good as a bull's-eye with a hydrogen warhead.

If one of Brucker's officers had given out the same information, he would have been court-martialed.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Baering Down On The News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"The Bronx Cheer"

The greatest authority on the English language is Mario Pei, now with Columbia University.

Professor Pei says I am the only contemporary writer adding words to the language. In his comprehensive book he quotes one of my paragraphs: "In the subway a citizen is a stand-in and in Pittsburgh he's a sootizen."

I didn't write that with the idea of shedding an extra tear or two over the onionskin pages of Webster's unabridged. It was just another paragraph in an article for Dr. Pei to comment on years later.

One certain addition to the language was the expression "Bronx Cheer," which is the clarion call of disgust across the Harlem River.

It started when the champion Benny Leonard fought in old Madison Square Garden. Like Mickey Walker, Dempsey and Barney Ross, all of Benny's fights were exciting. They were usually as one-sided as a drunk's hat and the mob used to implore the referee to stop it.

In the contagious epidemic of mercy and good will to men I often joined in the plea for clemency. The ring-wise Damon Runyon tipped me off the tender-hearted Bronxites wouldn't have cared if Benny had run his opponent through a sausage machine. They were betting on the number of rounds.

So when the referee didn't stop it in the right round they let go with that accolade of tight-lipped criticism that sounded like tearing a yard of calico. I named this "The Bronx Cheer"—a word that is part of the language without actually being a word.

Trout Season Opens Apr. 15

Stocking Operation Costs About $80,000

The brook, rainbow and brown trout season in Maryland, with a daily limit of five in the aggregate will open at 5:30 a. m., Sunday, April 15, according to the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, which will stock 120 miles of the best trout waters with over 100,000 adult trout averaging nine inches in length.

This operation will cost around $80,000 and should furnish excellent trout angling to over 50,000 fishermen residing in Maryland, and some residing elsewhere attracted to Maryland by the above par fishing.

The annual resident angler's license costs only $1.50, the non-resident, $10, with a part-time non-resident license costing $1.75, valid for a period of three consecutive days. Until the resident license is increased by legislative act the limit in trout stocking in Maryland has been reached. The cost today of the resident license with the exception of a 25-cent raise in 1943 is the same as it was when the angler's license law was enacted in 1927 although the price in every thing used in raising and planting trout has more than doubled.

The streams stocked, and to be stocked, throughout the next few months are the same as previous years.

COLEMAN IS GIVEN RELEASE BY TIGERS
LAKELAND, Fla., April 3 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today gave veteran pitcher Joe Coleman his outright release.

The 33-year-old Coleman joined the Tigers last July, winning two games and dropping one. He was acquired from Baltimore, where he had a 0-1 record.

Cyclists Plan To Enter Races And Hill Tests

Miller In Sunday Winchester Races

Motorcycle racers and hill climbers of Cumberland are busy these days in preparation for a big season which gets under way today when Charley Miller, flat racer, participates in at least two of the nine events at the half mile dirt track in Winchester, Va.

Miller, a resident of Hagerstown, is planning to make his home in Cumberland and will drive under the sponsorship of James M. "Jim" Raupach, Harley Davidson dealer for this area.

Miller also will participate in the races at Reading, Pa., Sunday, April 15.

Local hill climbers getting ready for a busy year are Joseph W. Hemmis, Eddie Cosgrove and Clarence Harper. They expect to vie in the slant-riding program scheduled for Donora, Pa., Sunday, May 6.

Raupach reports that there are 114 motorcyclists registered in Allegany county and the groundwork is being laid for the formation of a club.

Giants Club Mike Garcia

Six Homers Mark 14 To 13 Slugfest

LUBBOCK, Tex., April 3 (AP)—The New York Giants clubbed big Mike Garcia for eight consecutive hits and nine runs in the second inning but barely outlasted the Cleveland Indians 14-13 in a slug-fest today. A strong wind helped the batters and the footing of the fielders was unsteady on the loose turf.

The Indians outthrew the victors 16-15, but they were all even in homers with three apiece.

Pitcher Ruben Gomez and Dusty Rhodes clouted homers for the Giants in the big second and Ed Bressoud sailed a three-run homer along with windstream in the second for a 12-4 New York lead.

Gene Woodling, Sam Mele and Earl Averill belted the Cleveland homers.

Larsen Drives Auto Into Pole

Yankee Loses Cap From Front Tooth

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel said today he was undecided what disciplinary action, if any, should be taken against pitcher Don Larsen, who smashed his automobile into a light pole at 5:30 a. m. this morning.

"It's too bad this had to happen," Stengel said. "Don's behavior has been good this spring."

Larsen lost a cap from a front tooth but otherwise escaped injury in the accident.

Damage to the convertible car, which rammed into a metal pole on a south side thoroughfare here, was placed at $800.

"And there's good reason for it, too! Here's the way I look at it. There are just so many ounces in any bottle of beer. Or can, for that matter. But they all don't contain the same amount of beer enjoyment or satisfaction. Some are good in some ways, but 'miss the boat' in other ways. Old Export gives me everything I want in a beer. Taste . . . body . . . quality. And the important thing is that its quality you can depend on. Best way to say it is—it's ALL beer . . . all the time!"

You can prove this yourself. Compare Old Export with any beer you are now drinking. Let your taste decide. If you like real beer . . . beer that's patiently and skillfully brewed the way beer should be . . . we'll wager you'll switch to Old Export in a hurry.

ALL-beer—means beer that has everything it takes to make it a real beer.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 3 (INS)—Surprising that Dorothy Dandridge has not made a picture since "Carmen Jones," in which she was so successful. As soon as she completes her four-weeks' engagement at the Savoy Hotel in London on May 15, she will head back to Hollywood to discuss "Island in the Sun" with 20th Century-Fox.

She's already agreed to play the Jamaican girl who falls in love with the British newspaperman in this best seller by Alec Saugh. The sequences will be shot in Jamaica.

Later in the year, Dorothy will go to Abyssinia to make "Short Cut" for a French motion picture company.

I'm very glad that Mona Freeman gets such a good chance in "The Great Man," the story about the TV idol who is really a heel, which Jose Ferrer is starring in and directing for U. I. Mona gets top billing in the role of the heel's long suffering secretary. Not bad considering that Joanne Gilbert and Julie London are also in the line up.

A happy Jane Withers telephoned to tell me that her bridegroom Ken Erarr is leaving the Singing Freshmen group so he can stay home with her and the children. Janie just returned from a tour with Ken with a bad cold and she said that she is glad that her husband will be home and will do his singing right here.

As for Janie, she has no idea of returning to her career unless something very special comes up, but that could happen — Janie is a good actress.

The fifth husband Kathleen ("Forever Amber") Winsor is taking into herself is the very rich Paul Porter, prominent Washington, D. C. attorney. From Washington I hear Porter gave his ex-wife $2,000 monthly alimony for life, all of his life insurance, his home, furniture, cars and a cash settlement.

Miss Winsor says this marriage is it, and she's spent $1,000 in private cooking courses to turn herself into an ideal housewife.

The John Tracy Clinic, one of the town's most worthy charities, since it takes care of exceptional children, will be richer.

The Tennis and Crummet Club, including such players as Ginger Rogers, Jacques Bergerac, Gilbert Roland, C. V. Whitney, Mona Freeman, Jose Ferrer, Jack Warner and Bob Stack, will hold a tournament starting May 26 and 27 and continuing the following week-end of June 2 and 3.

Matches will be held on the courts of Jack Warner, Bob Stack, Jack Aldridge, Cameron, who has rented the Douglas Fairbanks house, and the B.B. Robinsons. The finals will be held at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel, June 3, with all proceeds going to the Tracy Clinic.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The price of Basset hounds has skyrocketed since Cleo, Jackie Cooper's talking dog on TV, made audiences aware of this happy canine breed.

Libraire has been getting around to Margaret Lindsay quite often these evenings. They were at a party given by Mrs. Richard Lund (Liz Whitney) a few nights ago.

An out of court settlement has been made by Actor Bob Middleton and his wife, Roberta. Their divorce comes up May 5.

Mario Lanza will do all right with "Serenade." He collects a goodly percentage of the profits. Charlie Morrison was well enough to be at the Mocambo last week for the Wednesday night round table. That's good news to his friends.

Now I'm hearing about a Betty George, New York actress, who is supposed to have received a charm bracelet from Marlon Brando. Republic Producer John Bash and his wife have parted, and she has obtained a legal separation.

The story going to rounds furnished by one of the Hollywood wits, who says that he couldn't possibly go to the Kelly-Ranier wedding after the Queen of England and President Eisenhower said they could not attend. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Old Fashioned Love

Katherine Anne Porter wrote "Pale Horse, Pale Rider" in 1939. It seems longer ago than that. Watching the adaptation of one of the three stories in that book on "Climax" the other night, this story of the influenza epidemic during the first World War seemed in tone and spirit and delicacy to have been written at least 30 years ago.

Miss Porter, whose sentences are almost collector's items, was writing of an earlier, gentler war when love flowered—at least in print—a little more tenderly. It's a very gentle and simple love story about a soldier and his girl who are snatched from each other, first by influenza which strikes down the girl, and then by death in a prisoner of war camp—the result of a single kiss the girl's dreams had foretold.

There's not much more to it than that and it could have been quite sticky on television except for a perfectly radiant performance by Dorothy Maguire as the girl and a very sound one by John Forsythe as the soldier. Miss Porter's dialogue has the constant joy of the unexpected. The flavor of the dialogue, the flavor of the period reminded me strongly of "Farewell to Arms," though in a very minor and rather feminine key. What interested me is that this fragile story could still be so fresh and appealing and so singularly free of any trace of the maudlin on contemporary television. Perhaps romantic love is coming back.

There have been some very interesting performances on "Climax" in the last weeks. One of them, an amazing exercise in pure restraint, was that of Jean Pierre Aumont as a priest charged with murder who is silenced by his vows. The real murderer had admitted his crime to the priest in the confessional. This is a very ticklish subject indeed, and Aumont had to walk through an hour drama, practically saying nothing at all. This is a terrible thing to ask of an actor and he acquitted himself very well. As a matter of fact, I'm surprised to find that a story of so controversial a nature ever got on television at all.

Another and entirely different performance which pleased me was that of Frederic March as a ham actor in an old George Kelly sketch on "Shower of Stars." March mouthed and postured his way through this piece with such authority you could almost taste the greasepaint. The sketch itself creaked a little with age.

I regret that I didn't see Teresa Wright playing that legendary lady, Louella Parsons, with what I'm told was almost painful fidelity on another "Climax." Years ago I recall that the only people's lives which were dramatized were scientists in pursuit of the discovery of radium or maybe Mozart dashing off "Don Giovanni." And they were all safely dead. But nowadays they have got around to live composers, live clarinet players, live reformed drunks. And now—columnists? This is letting the bars of biography down to what I consider a dangerous level. Nobody's safe any more. If you have any old letters lying around, you better hide them. Somebody will be dramatizing you on TV.

"MGM Presents," which started out as a deplorably sketchy and untidy sort of movie trailer, has been thoroughly reorganized. The new format has been to run old movies in installments and they are running some pretty good ones. One of them was "Captains Courageous" and, if they persist in this sort of thing, the program might yet amount to something. This picture offers Rudyard Kipling's story with stunning performances by Spencer Tracy, Freddie Bartholomew and Lionel Barrymore.

This will be MGM's last attempt to make something of the show this season. After that, they plan to cancel until fall when the company will come up with something new.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

ANYDLBAAR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

LYZ CDLY SW XSTMDR DQBDJTZ. FZJL MX. DJQ FAXL VZ. XLEZKJ. KMLY VESPZJ WEMZJQXYMCX. KZRRX.

Tydings Gets New County Support

Demo Leader Changes Backing

William P. Kelly, Lonaconing hotel operator and member of the Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County which previously had endorsed George P. Mahoney for U. S. Senate, yesterday switched his support to Millard E. Tydings.

Kelly earlier had said he tried to prevent the unanimous endorsement of Mahoney by the Democratic committee because he didn't know if there would be any other candidates.

Young Love Given Boost By Mahoney

Carries Primary Drive Into Elkton

ELKTON, Md., April 3 (AP)—George P. Mahoney carried his senatorial primary campaign into this nationally famed center for eloping couples today and gave young love a boost.

The veteran Democratic candidate, making his fourth bid for statewide office after three disappointments, interrupted his hand-shaking tour to stop a young couple.

Newlyweds, he told other members of his entourage.

Married less than an hour, confessed the glowing youngsters. Mahoney ushered them into a nearby store, bought the bride an umbrella, and handed out an autographed card wishing them happiness, even though their New Jersey residence prevents them from voting for him or anyone else in Maryland.

The ebullient candidate also paused in his rounds on this dreary, rainy day to predict at least a third-place finish for the Baltimore Orioles baseball team in the American League.

The prediction came in a grocery and was backed up by graham crackers instead of cold, hard cash.

Mahoney bet the grocery clerk a 33-cent box of the crackers on the Orioles' performance. The clerk was sporting enough to give him odds. He wagered an 89-cent box of chocolate cookies against the graham.

Besides Elkton, the campaign party's Cecil County tour included Cecilton, Chesapeake City, North East, Perryville and Port Deposit. The group also made a short stop at the office of Ralph W. McCool, chairman of the Democratic County Committee, which has unanimously endorsed Mahoney. McCool also is treasurer of the Cecil campaign organization.

With Mahoney were one of his county co-chairmen, John J. Mahoney, and James J. Eder, publicity chairman.

As he pressed his campaign in the field, Mahoney's headquarters issued a statement of a new endorsement by Maurice J. Sopher, former member of the House of Delegates from Baltimore.

Sopher said Millard E. Tydings, Mahoney's chief opponent, was rejected at the polls by the people "because they felt his continuance in office was dangerous to the welfare of this country."

St. Ambrose Will Build New Church

Permit Issued For $106,000 Job

St. Ambrose Catholic Church in Cresaptown yesterday obtained a permit from the County Assessing Department at the Court House to build a $106,000 church and parish hall.

Rev. Carroll Warner, pastor, informed the county that the 104 by 42 foot edifice will have walls of concrete block and stone and will have a full basement. The building will include the church and parish hall. Completion of the project is scheduled for April 1957.

April has started off as though it will be a busy building month. Already, in the first two working days five permits for a total construction valued at $143,700 have been issued. They include three new houses and an addition to a fourth dwelling.

The dwellings include one for $13,500, obtained by Blair W. Stump in District 5, Bedford Road; another for $12,000 obtained by Charles Welling in District 6, Potomac Park, and another for $10,000 obtained by Dale E. Walker on Airport Road in District 16. Sherman Weatherholt will build a $1,200 addition to his home on Mt. Pleasant Road in District 21.

During the entire month of March 24 building permits for construction estimated to cost a total of $61,600 were issued at the Court House. Included were 11 new dwellings, four additions to dwellings, three garages, one garage with apartment, one club house, one hunting lodge, one lumber storage, one bathroom and one general storage.

In March 1955 some 20 permits were issued and the total estimated value was $78,350.

Mitchell To Fly Here For GOP Dinner Friday

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell will fly to Cumberland by private airplane to attend the Eisenhower-for-President dinner planned Friday at Ali Ghan Shrine Club by the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee.

Secretary Mitchell will deliver the principal address at the dinner, which Republican leaders hope will be attended by more than 300 persons.

Because of a tight schedule the Secretary of Labor must keep the dinner will start promptly at 6 o'clock, said James S. Getty, chairman of the Republican committee.

The Secretary is due in New York City on Saturday for an important labor conference and will fly back to Washington immediately following the dinner Friday night. He will be introduced by Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde.

Getty said Sen. J. Glenn Beall also will speak at the affair and he urged all Republicans in the area to turn out for the occasion. The local committee had originally planned to limit attendance at the dinner to 300 persons in order to expedite the affair to meet Secretary Mitchell's traveling schedule.

However, the committee said because of keen interest the dinner will be open to all who wish to attend.

Getty stated there are still tickets available and said persons desiring them may contact him, phone HO 3-3793; or Victor M. Hebb, PA 4-1081; Edgar M. Lewis, PA 2-3240; Thomas Elias, Frostburg 76; or Samuel Berry, West-ernport 21911.

Couple Held Up By 3 Men At Airport

Tires Of Victims' Car Are Slashed

Local police and authorities of Ridgeley last night were searching for three masked men who reportedly held up a 24-year-old Somerset, Pa., man while he was parked in a car with his girl friend at the airport in Wiley Ford, robbing him of about $9. The incident occurred about 8:25 p.m.

George Walker, student at Penn State College who was visiting here, told police one man had a gun, another a club and the third man a knife.

As one of the trio opened the front door on Walker's side one of the others attempted to open the door on the opposite side, which was locked.

The third man opened the rear door on Walker's side. Walker was asked to hand over his wallet. After he did so the money was removed by the men and the wallet was tossed back to Walker. Meanwhile two of the tires on his car were slashed and Walker was told to remain parked for about half an hour.

The trio departed. Walker then drove to Cumberland to report the incident to local police. He drove as far as Virginia Avenue and River Avenue, when he was forced to stop due to a flat tire.

He notified police, who in turn called authorities of Ridgeley who are working with local police. Neither Walker nor his girl companion were molested by the men, police said.

Station WTBO will broadcast as usual on its 1430 frequency, and will move into the former WDKY headquarters on Byrd Avenue within the next three weeks.

The changes were made following the recent sale of Station WDKY for $60,000. Under the agreement, WTBO acquired the physical assets of WDKY for $45,000, according to A. William German, president of WTBO.

Station WCUM put up $15,000 of the purchase price and is taking over the 1230 wave band.

Starts Route 40 Project

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin takes a 14-yard bite of earth with a power shovel to mark the opening of the Martin Mountain road project, the beginning of the reconstruction of Route 40 in Allegany County. Standing by to give a few tips on the operation of the equipment are several members of the crew of the Bero Construction Company, which expects to complete the 2½-mile road project by next fall.

Modernization Of Route 40 Is Under Way

To Recapture Traffic Moving On Turnpike

Facing the road over which great wagon trains rolled a century and a half ago to speed the opening of the West, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin yesterday broke ground for the Martin Mountain road project.

He predicted that the completion of the work planned in this area will return to Route 40 much of the traffic diverted in recent years to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The ceremony, he said, launched one of Maryland's greatest public works programs—the rebuilding of U. S. 40 from the eastern limits of Allegany County to Cumberland.

Over 200 participated in the ceremony, held during a light rain on the east slope of Martin Mountain. Using a power shovel, the governor lifted two 1½ yard scoops of earth, and later repeated the groundbreaking theme with a hand shovel.

He termed the face-lifting of Martin Mountain, which is to have its east side carved into a wide new road with easy grades "an engineering feat of herculean proportions because of the extremely rugged terrain."

Plan Polish Project

Later this year, Governor McKeldin said, the Maryland State Roads Commission will do the same thing for the west slope of Polish Mountain, eliminating some of the most forbidden passages in the Appalachian chain.

Route 40, he said, is an old road and a proud road, which has been paved since wagon days but "little has been done to improve its original design."

Maryland, he said, is meeting the problem of increased traffic with its 12-year road program, now in its third year, which when completed will put Maryland's road system on a par with any state in the union.

The program is moving on schedule in Allegany County, he said, with seven projects completed and work in progress on extensive improvements of U. S. 220 southwest of Rawlings.

"Work soon will start," he added, "on construction of a new bridge over Braddock Run and also on a new bridge over Town Creek which will become a part of relocated U. S. 40. The Roads Commission expects to advertise for the Polish Mountain improvement sometime this summer."

Plans Are Revised

The rebuilding of the mountain roads on new locations, Gov. McKeldin explained, goes beyond plans called for in the 12-year program, which called for modifying curves and grades and adding a third lane for slow moving traffic on certain hills.

The SRC, he said, was able to revise these plans so as to bypass entirely many miles of the present road and relocate U. S. 40 on new locations over both Martin and Polish mountains.

By slightly lengthening the mileage, the roads will have long, easy grades and will be similar to the Siding Hill improvement in Washington County.

Cites Expressway

Exemplary progress is being made, he said on the Cumberland expressway.

Engineering is underway by Green Associates, Inc., consulting engineers, and surveys and plans are being processed and rights of way acquired. Actual construction will start in the second phase of the 12-year program.

Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, said it is possible the commission may be able to advertise the job late next year, if funds can be found for accelerating the work.

Governor McKeldin predicted that when the mountain roads in Western Maryland are rebuilt to easy grades, much of the traffic which in recent years has been diverted to the Pennsylvania Turnpike will return permanently to this county.

"Other things being more or less equal," he remarked, "free roads are more attractive than toll booths."

"Delighted," Beall Says
Senator J. Glenn Beall served as master of ceremonies at the program, saying Western Mary-

William Martin Gave Name To Big Mountain

Martin Mountain, scene of ground breaking for a big road project yesterday, got its name in connection with the formation of Allegany County, former State Senator William A. Gunter recalled yesterday.

Allegany County, he said, was formed on Christmas Day, 1789, by an act of General Assembly, and the State of Maryland sent William Martin here as deputy attorney general, a post which corresponds to the present state's attorney.

The mountain, the first of four located on Route 40 in Allegany County east of Cumberland, was named for William Martin, he said.

William Martin was the brother of Luther Martin, one of Maryland's greatest lawyers.

Luther was paralyzed late in his life, Gunter said, and the General Assembly passed an act assessing each lawyer in Maryland $5 a year toward his support.
